The major function of the fuel dump was to supply liquid fuels to organizations of the Land Transportation Control Bureau, industrial factories, irrigation associations, and other installations. Oil was transported from Sinuiju by 20 trucks belonging to the Monopoly Bureau, and the customers had to pick up the oil at the fuel dump and transport it themselves. The fuel dump handled gasoline, kerosene, lubricating oil, heavy oil, and light oil. The kerosene
25X1 was sold to farmers for three sungs of rice for each liter of kerosene.

Approximately 50 men worked at the fuel dump, including 20 guards. The office was in two village houses at YD-417321. The entire storage area was surrounded by barbed wire, and approximately six guard posts were along the fence.
